Flowers for the holidays

Leona McDonald of the Happy Valley Garden Club creates a floral arrangement for "A Joyous Time," a flower and horticulture show today and Saturday in Canby. Sponsored by the Clackamas District of the Oregon State Federation of Garden Clubs, the event will be open to the public from 1 to 5 p.m. today and 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday in the Hope Village Community Center, 1535 Ivy St. Competitors will exhibit bouquets that evoke thoughts of Halloween, Thanksgiving, December and Holidays for Kids. Admission is free. Coffee, tea and cake will be served at no charge. For information call 503-658-7505.

Check out the gardening program

Carolyn Cella is a local teacher who believes in kids and in the power of plants. This summer she'll bring her extensive skills to connect them in the award-winning Children's Garden program at Luscher Farm.

Cella has been passionate about gardening all her life, and loves to share her enthusiasm with children. She has spent much of her life in Colorado, where she also ran community children's gardens.

"It's amazing how much children learn when they get an early start. They form a connection with the earth, ecology and the life cycle through planting things," she says. "Planting a garden creates great feedback — in the form of beautiful flowers and things to eat. And I'm still always just as surprised and excited as the kids are when things just start coming up!"

This year's Children's Garden program starts Tuesday, May 6, for 6 to 12 year olds. Besides planting seeds, transplanting young plants, caring for plants and weeding, Cella will include lots of arts and crafts and hands-on science projects.

One experiment will involve growing unusual-colored vegetables and fruits, such as yellow tomatoes and blue potatoes.

Children will also make flowerpots, learn to press flowers, and grow a "pizza garden" where all the plants are ingredients for America's favorite food: Tomatoes, peppers, oregano and basil, to name a few. Scarecrows will also make their way to the garden.

Cella is a substitute teacher in Lake Oswego, West Linn and Oregon City and is also the president of the Happy Valley Garden Club. She believes that children who garden grow up to be kinder, gentler and more nurturing adults, treating everything with more respect. And she has a tip to parents: Children who grow vegetables are more likely to eat vegetables.

Happy Valley matriarch dies at 95

Doris "Doree" Campbell was the mother of Larry Campbell, a former Oregon House Speaker

By DENNIS McCARTHY
THE OREGONIAN

HAPPY VALLEY — To friends, she was affectionately known as "Doree." To members of her family, "Nonee." And to many of those who knew Doris Campbell well, she was a grand lady of Happy Valley.

Many of them will gather Thursday, Jan. 16, at a memorial service for Doris T. Campbell, who died of natural causes Jan. 4. She was 95.

Mrs. Campbell, the mother of former Oregon House Speaker Larry Campbell, was a well-known figure around Happy Valley the past 50 years.

She was one of the original members of the Happy Valley Garden

Longtime member of Garden Club,

Club, one of the city's most active clubs the past 35 years.

Friends remember her as a very friendly, sociable woman who worked well with others, but was willing to leave leadership

"She did not want to hold office in the club," said Evelyn Mell, longtime friend and fellow garden club member. "I think she basically liked the social contact."

Betty Jo Eason, another garden-club member who knew Mrs. Campbell for the last 12 years of her life, described her as "one classy lady — sophisticated, yet very down to Earth."

Eason said Mrs. Campbell had some reservations about how fast Happy Valley was developing, but said she was not opposed to progress.

Born Doris Dickey, and raised in Des Moines, Iowa, Mrs. Campbell and her late husband, Malcolm, worked for the old Pacific Telephone Co. for many years.

They moved to the Mount Scott area in the early 1950s where they established Cloud Pass Ranch, a 7-acre spread off Southeast Idleman Road.

There she rode her two horses and raised other animals and pets, including her favorite Pomeranian, "Buffy."

Grandson Kevin Campbell said she did not like the name Doris and preferred the name Doree. He said he began calling his grandmother Nonee almost as soon as he learned to speak, and it became the family nickname for Mrs. Campbell.

"She was extremely bright to the end," he recalls. "She was the kind of person who knew where every penny was spent and balanced her checkbook to the penny."

Campbell said his grandmother lived on and managed the ranch by herself for many years after her husband died in 1967.

She also was a longtime member of the Mt. Scott Church of God choir.

Besides her son, Larry, and grandson Kevin, she is survived by three other grandsons, Mark, Craig and Darin; and by five great-grandchildren.

The family has scheduled a memorial service for Mrs. Campbell at 2 p.m. Jan. 16 in Mt. Scott Church of God, 10603 S.E. Henderson St. Private interment will be at Lincoln Memorial Park & Funeral Home.

The family suggests remembrances to the American Cancer Society.
